Tree dedication

The Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee has planted a tree at Martin Luther King Park in Bay St. Louis in memory of the late Sam Nichols. There will be a formal tree dedication ceremony at 2 p.m. Monday, Jan. 18, at the park. For more information call the Chamber Office at 467-9048.

Bay hosts blood drive

The Bay St. Louis community is hosting an American Red Cross blood drive Wednesday, Jan. 20, 2-7 p.m. at the American Legion Post 1349, Green Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

The drive is open to the public, and all blood types are needed.

The drive is especially important because more blood is used by area hospitals during the first two weeks of January than at any other time of the year. Many elective surgeries are postponed until after the holidays, and this puts an enormous strain on the constant need for blood.

Eligible blood donors should be 17 years old, weigh at least 110 pounds and should not have donated in the past 56 days.

For information, call 1-888-432-5663 or your local Red Cross chapter at 895-4311.

Local hunters help shelter

Concerned Citizens for Better Government and Bayou Latrobe Hunting Club Inc. of Hancock County, Hunter Education and Bowhunter Educators of Hancock County and South Mississippi Gun Association, an NRS-affiliated club, announce the 1997-98 deer season food drive to benefit Hope Haven.

How to donate deer meat:

Contact Tom Williams at 467-4992 or Bennie Malloy at 255-3397.

Closed meeting on proposed landfill expected

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County's Solid Waste Authority has called a special meeting for 1 p.m. Jan. 21 at the Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant off Gulfside Street in Waveland.

The reason for the meeting was not revealed, but District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward, one of the commissioners on the six-member Authority, said she expected most of the meeting will be an executive closed-door session.

The Authority has been getting heat from U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor and environmentalist and citizens groups since announcing in recent weeks that it plans to enter into an agreement with a Hattiesburg developer, Dr. Bennett York.

Incorporated as Mississippi Waste of Hancock County, York has proposed to build a combination rubbish site-landfill off Flat Top Road in Hancock County.

The 700-acre site is in the vast buffer zone surrounding the giant Stennis Space Center, and Taylor claims a garbage dump there would jeopardize future growth of the space center and agencies located there. He has proposed buying some of the land and turning it into a wildlife management area.

Last week, in a copyrighted story, the daily Jackson Clarion Ledger tied York to Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott. The newspaper said both were

Task Force reports drug-related arrests

BY B. R. HAWKINS

Hancock County Narcotics Task Force officials reported six drug-related arrests. Task Force Director Shan Corr said officers arrested Jeremy Wayne Everidze, 17, of Waveland on an outstanding warrant issued during the December 1998 county-wide Operation No Bond drug round-up. Everidze is charged with two counts of sale of a controlled substance; crack cocaine. His bond was set at $20,000.

Corr said three arrests had been made on charges of prescription forgery. Anthony Ward Johnson, 38, of Gulfport was arrested Jan. 3, on one county of prescription forgery. His bond was set at $5,000. According to Corr, Johnson was trying to obtain Loratab. Agent

Medical authorities issue paintball warning

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock Medical Center authorities have issued a strong warning about the popular paintball guns amid growing reports that children in the area have suffered various eye injuries.

At the Echo's request, Dr. Sean Appleyard, co-director of HMC's Emergency room, confirmed that at least four children were treated for eye injuries during the Christmas holidays.

Another source, who asked not to be identified, said he, alone, treated six children who came through the HMC emergency room during his shifts.

The source said the eye injuries included corneal abrasion, contusions, traumatic iritis, retinal detachment and hyphema (blood behind the cornea). He said the injuries occurred because the children were not wearing protective eye goggles.

"These paint guns are dangerous and when used improperly, without adult supervision or eye protection, they can cause serious damage," the source warned.

"Some of these children may have permanent damage," the source said.

Appleyard released a nine-line, double-spaced statement after the inquiry from the Echo. "Paintball guns should be used with extreme caution and protective equipment," he advised. "However, even when protective gear is worn, children are still vulnerable to injury."

Because of the confidentiality that exists between doctor and patient, it is difficult to get specific information on the types of injuries treated locally.

A spokesman in the office of Dr. George Thurber, a local ophthalmologist, remembered treating at least one boy "between 10 and 13 years old" over the Christmas holidays, who temporarily lost his vision "and had to be sent for special treatment to Tulane Medical Center in New Orleans."

In celebration

In celebration of Martin Luther King's 70th birthday, Gene Schloegel and representatives of the VFW and American Legion conducted flag-raising and wreath-laying ceremonies Saturday, Jan. 18, at the Bay Flag Memorial. Members of the Bay High School Air Force Junior ROTC program comprised the color guard. Cadets participating were Randi Labbe, Linda Adams, Dylan Murphy, Matt Hoda, Richard Benvenutti, Rocky Murphy, Chris Devall and Tempest Wilkerson. Bay St. Louis Councilwoman, Connie Lampley presented the wreath in honor of Dr. King. (Echo staff photo by B. R. Hawkins)

And, Dr. John Bourgeois, another local ophthalmologist, said he treated one patient over the holidays and maybe one of two others recently.

One patient who came to Dr. Bourgeois suffered what he called "an eye-threatening" injury. He explained that this is different from a "sight-threatening" injury, which usually means a person won't lose the eye, but he will lose a lot of vision in the eye.

He said an "eye-threatening" injury is the type of "blunt trauma" injury that might eventually cause a patient to lose an eye, and require him to get an artificial one.

The paintball gun is available locally and located in the hunting department of most discount stores, rather than in the toy area. The Brass Eagle brand is among the most popular and widely distributed. The paintball guns retail at about $35, but the protective goggles cost another $30, and a box of 200 paintballs, about $7.

One protective rubber mask, that almost resembles the helmet worn by Darth Vader of Star Wars fame, retails locally for $30, but it, too, comes with a warning that it will not necessarily prevent all injuries.

In fact, Brass Eagle, headquartered in Rogers, Arkansas recently sent out a recall to American Paintball League operators regarding its Extreme Vision 280 paintball goggles.

In an April 28, 1998, letter to retailers, distributors, playing fields and consumers, Brass Eagle warned of a potential hazard. It also said the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission was notified of the recall.

"Brass Eagle has received five reports of the lenses of the Xtreme Vision 280 paintball masks cracking or breaking when struck by a paintball, thus creating a potential for injury to the paintball player," the warning said. It added, "No reports of injury have been received."

The firm further warned: "Brass Eagle Xtreme Vision 280 goggles which do not have current version lenses bearing a manufacturing date are prohibited from being used on American Paint League insured playing fields."

"Questions have been raised regarding the safety of the Xtreme Vision 280 goggles," the warning continued.

"In response, Brass Eagle had the goggles tested at an independent lab, and they were certified as meeting all ASTM standards. To date, Brass Eagle has had zero injuries reported to us as a result of goggle cracking or breakage."

Queen takes up residence at Port Bienville

BY ED LEPOMA

There's a queen staying at Port Bienville in Hancock County.

It isn't the kind of royalty that has state and county officials courtseying and catering to its every whim, but the Queen of New Orleans gambling barge that peeks through the woods as vehicles travel the port's main roadway does cause one to stare.

The gambling barge is owned by the Hilton Corp., and was operated as the Flamingo Queen of New Orleans before it went bankrupt and belly-up on the river at the foot of Canal Street. Its owners had hoped to secure a license to move the boat to Vicksburg or Shreveport, but when that didn't work out, they needed some place to temporarily dock it until an owner can be found.

At Monday's regular meeting of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, the port's Deputy Director Bill Stovall told commissioners the barge was now berthed on the western side of the liquid barge terminal.

"It's amazing. It has all the slots, and everything aboard it," said Stovall.

Commissioners approved a resolution that allows the Queen of New Orleans to rest at Port Bienville for at least six months at a dockage fee of $2,600 a month.

Stovall said two men are stationed aboard the barge for security, and liability insurance is in place in the event of any vandalism or damage from future storms.

Census Bureau sending workers into Mississippi neighborhoods

Starting Monday, Jan. 18, U.S. Census Bureau field workers will be fanning out into neighborhoods along the Gulf Coast and many other communities throughout the state.

The enterprise is a 6- to 8-week project called "Black Canvassing," which is part of the Census Bureau's preparation for 'Census 2000. Quite simply, field workers walk down city streets and talk to residents in an effort to update census maps and address lists.

"Ever since 1970, the national census has been handled mainly through the mail," explains census spokesman Frank Newton. "So correct addresses are essential. If our addresses are wrong, then people may not receive their census form in March or April of 2000."

The Census Bureau is actively notifying local authorities and the public to allay any anxieties or misunderstandings. In particular, the Census Bureau would like people to know that:

- Most census field workers are local residents.

- All Census field workers carry identification (which is a red-white-blue badge with the official Census Bureau emblem).

- All Census employees take an oath to protect the privacy of any information they gather.

- All Census employees receive a background check by law enforcement authorities.

- Census field workers in this project are checking residential addresses. They may knock on doors to directly verify addresses.

The Census Bureau reminds everyone that accurate census information is vitally important for all Mississippi residents. The state's representation in the U.S. Congress is based directly on census figures.

Furthermore, federal grants to state and city agencies for roads, schools, public health, community centers and many other social services are based on census data as well.

All Mississippians are encouraged to cooperate with the important work of their neighbors who are conducting this field work for the Census Bureau.

If anyone has questions or concerns, they are encouraged to contact local authorities or phone the Census offices in Jackson at (601) 362-0943 or Tupelo at (601) 844-1544.

New fire unit

New equipment replaces fire unit

Hancock County rural homeowners and timberland owners will be better protected from the 150 wildfires that sweep across 2,000 acres of the county during an average year.

That's County Forester Mark Jamieson's assessment of the importance of the new fire unit the Mississippi Forestry Commission just assigned to Hancock County.

The new 450G John Deere bulldozer and International transport truck replaces a 28-year-old John Deere 350 crawler tractor and 1987 two-ton Ford transport truck, which Jamieson describes as "totally decrepit."

The Forestry Commission still operates another 28-year-old unit in the county, along with 1 1993 unit. Jamieson says the other old unit is due for replacement soon.

The new equipment was purchased through the Forestry Commission's $13 million, five-year equipment up-grade program.

"All of us at the Forestry Commission express our appreciation to Representative Dirk Dedeaux for his leadership in this effort, and to Representative J. P. Compretta and Senator Scotty Cuevas for their strong support of our equipment upgrade program."

"We are confident that they'll continue to work on our behalf to ensure that the entire five-year plan is completed. Thanks to their efforts, we're now better prepared to lower the acreage burned in the county, and offer timberland owners better service," Jamieson said.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

"Big John" wants your blood.

The person I am writing about is J.D. (Big John) Rutherford Jr., longtime blood chairman for Hancock County.

Almost as long as I can recall, Big John has been making an appeal for blood donors for the American Red Cross in Hancock County.

For years and years, blood drives have taken place at the home of Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, Green Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

On Wednesday, Jan. 20, 2 to 7 p.m. an American Red Cross drive will take place, and Big John will be there.

There are several regulars who have been donating blood for some 50 years in Hancock County.

During the month of January there is a nationwide shortage of blood, according to reports I have been receiving.

Along the Coast, during the first two weeks of January, more blood is used by area hospitals than at any other time of the year. Many elective surgeries are postponed until after the holidays, and this places an enormous strain on the constant need for blood.

The blood drive is open to the public and all blood types are needed.

Eligible blood donors should be at least 17 years old, weigh 110 pounds or more and should not have donated in the past 56 days.

Big John wants to make Wednesday's drive the largest ever in Hancock County, so he needs a lot of volunteer donors.

Hancock Medical Center is included in the 69 hospitals receiving blood from the American Red Cross Blood Services, Gulf Coast Region.

We hope to see you at the blood drive on Wednesday.

For newcomers only, the American Legion Post 139 home is at the corner of Blue Meadow and Green Meadow roads across from the shopping center with Winn-Dixie.

At 2 p.m. on Monday, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee will have a tree dedication ceremony in memory of Mr. Sam Nichols at the Martin Luther King Park, Washington Street, Bay St. Louis.

Nichols was a very active member of the chamber's beautification committee for many years.

He did not only talk beautification, but also took action when necessary and was not afraid to "get his hands dirty," as an old saying goes.

Nichols spent many hours personally collecting litter from his neighborhood, including the park so children would enjoy playing there.

He had a great concern for his city and neighborhood. When it was necessary Nichols appeared before the Bay Council to express his concerns for his city and neighborhood.

The public is invited and urged to attend.

I know it is down the road a bit, but the annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Legislative Reception is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 26 at the Coliseum & Trade Mart in Jackson.

This is a multi-Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce-sponsored event and a very important opportunity to meet with legislators from across the state.

I have gone for several years and have been told many times that it is the best attended function by legislators who look forward to it each year.

The food is great, as restaurants from across the Coast, including several from Hancock County, offer the specialties.

There is a bus service available. For further information contact the Chamber at 467-9048 for further information.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mud slinging won't get landfill problem solved

To the Editor:

As an interested citizen from Waveland, I have something to say about the "Taylor-Landfill" debate currently in full sway.

I am opposed to the landfill site in the buffer zone in Hancock County, primarily, I am sure, because I am not fully enough informed. Mr. Taylor, speaking out late, very well might be a bone of contention. Some say he isn't informed enough to speak. Maybe that is true, but neither am I.

It pleases me that someone, anyone, might say "wait a spell and let's look at this more closely."

Garbage in Hancock County from any source is still bad news. Of course, we have our own that must be managed. It is not possible that this could be done in a more cooperative manner? The Feds could have a helpful point to make.

Mud slinging won't get it either. John Mason and Mayor Farve said it best. "We've got lots of problems and need help." Asking, in a cooperative manner, might get a better job done faster and easier and possibly less costly.

Oh yes, less costly! That's appealing! If contracts contain protective clauses, as Bay St. Louis City Councilwoman Moran says, then let's hear about them. I, for one, will listen, and I suspect Gene Taylor will also.

Environmental issues guarded now might preserve our future.

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI SENATE

By State Senator
Scottie Cuevas

State employees, teachers to benefit from Senate pay-increase bill

The Senate's pay-increase bill for state employees passed the House of Representatives in quick order Thursday and is heading for the Governor's signature.

SB 2485, which passed the Senate Wednesday, provides a $1,500 across-the-board pay raise beginning July 1 for state employees of more than six months.

During the past several years, the Legislature has been concerned with keeping state salaries competitive so that experienced employees will not be hired away by private businesses.

Nearly three-fourths of the state pay-plan affects employees making less than $30,000 per year. The bill proposes a 9.2 percent raise for those making less than $20,000.

On Thursday, the Senate's education and Appropriation committees approved SB 2186 to fund a teacher pay raise, which would begin in the 1999-2000 school year. Increases also are provided for assistant teachers.

The plan will provide teachers with an average increase of $6,000 over a two-year period.

In 1997, the Legislature committed to a three-year pay raise plan for teachers. Fiscal Year 2000, which ends June 30, 2000, is the final year of that commitment.

Last week also was dominated by committee work on more than 500 Senate bills filed thus far on subjects from education to crime-fighting to expanded job-skills training.

One jobs-related bill SB 2276 passed by the Education Committee, would allow state community colleges to offer limited courses relating to gaming.

Early in the week, the full Senate approved transferring additional Medicaid funds to help operate a health-insurance program for children, whose working families cannot afford it.

Two environmental projects also won Senate approval at $350,000 for the Department of Environmental Quality to support surface-water quality testing and $300,000 for an in-depth study of air quality in DeSoto County and the Gulf Coast.

On Tuesday, the Senate's Oil & Gas and Environmental Protection committees approved SB 2382, commonly referred to as the "sand and gravel bill," which would revise the state's surface mining and reclamation law.

Also winning Senate support were funds for a new Educational Television tower; furniture and other equipment for the new Museum of Natural Science and the State Library Commission's "Magnolia" computer information database.

State utility workers who braved hazardous conditions to restore power after the Christmas Eve ice storm were officially commended, along with Mississippi's Junior Miss Allison Kellogg and other outstanding citizens.

Feb. 2 is the deadline for committees to approve their own chamber's bills or constitutional amendments. Feb. 11 is the deadline for floor action on these bills.

Hancock County to benefit from Library Bill

I have joined this week with several other legislators in an effort to fund libraries around the state.

The bill will provide $12.5 million to aid in construction, repair and renovation of libraries.

There are 47 library systems in the state which involved 70 counties.

If passed, this bill will provide matching funds to local libraries. This could mean up to $300,000 for the Hancock County library system in the near future.

I welcome any questions and comments.

Rep. Dirk Dedeaux can be reached at the capitol desk at (601) 359-3770 during the session.

House favors creation of tobacco settlement trust fund

The Mississippi House of Representatives this week went on record again as favoring the creation of a trust fund from the state's $4 billion-plus settlement with the national tobacco industry.

The near unanimous floor vote followed committee approval in the House Public Health and Welfare and Appropriation committees.

The House also voted during the 1998 session to create a trust fund from the settlement, but the move failed in the State Senate. Under the House plan, the principal portion of the fund would never be spent, with interest monies being spent for a wide range of health-care programs.

State Attorney General Mike Moore, who filed the suit, told the House Appropriations Committee during the week that he doesn't expect the federal government to demand any money back.

"They (federal officials) promised us that if the states used the settlements for public health, there will be no recovery (of funds) effort," Moore told the committee. "I took them at their word, and I still take them at their word."

Moore said that as of Jan. 12, Mississippi had $291.6 million in the bank from tobacco-settlement payments. He said the monies will generate about $15 million in interest during 1999.

The House of Representatives plan has taken the view that the settlement's principal should be put in a trust fund and that only the interest should be spent. Currently, all tobacco settlement funds are in the state treasury, drawing about 5 percent interest.

The bill states that only 94 percent of the interest would be spent, with the remainder going back into the trust fund.

Moore said Mississippi's settlement is for twice the amount it would have been under the recent national settlement made with about 40 states. Under that plan, Mississippi would ultimately have received about $2 billion.

The attorney general said no state money was ever used for the lawsuit. He said the amount of money paid private attorneys working on the case was decided by a three-member arbitration panel.

"The loser paid — the tobacco industry was the loser," Moore said. He added his office was repaid some $2.5 million by the industry for his own time spent away from the office.

In another major floor vote, the House voted unanimously to give state employees an across-the-board average pay raise of $1,500 starting July 1. The House vote sends Senate Bill 2485 to the governor.

In committee action during the week:

— The House Insurance Committee passed out a bill that would combine the health insurance plans for state employees and public school employees. The proposed new plan would raise to 25 the age unmarried dependents who are full-time students could be carried on their parents' insurance plan.

Currently, the age limit is 23. It also raises life insurance coverage to $5,000, $10,000 or $20,000 instead of the current coverages of $2,000, $4,000 and $10,000 for persons who retire after June 30, 1999.

Attorney General Mike Moore asked the Appropriations Committee to fund on Office of Post-Conviction Defense to provide counsel for 65 "Deathrow" inmates held by the state.

Lack of proper counsel for inmates sentenced to death has been blamed for the recent lack of executions. Mississippi has not executed an inmate since 1989.

Developing software

Dr. Richard Crout of Planning Systems Inc., Charles Riley of Ocean Technologies, U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor, Kimberly Fitzgerald of Ocean Technologies and Rear Adm. Ken Barbor of the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command discuss Ocean Technologies' products and their applications for the Navy at the Ocean Technologies offices in Pass Christian. Ocean Technologies has an agreement with the Navy, with the help of Taylor, to develop software products that can be used in mine detection Barbor's command, based at Stennis Space Center, is charged with providing ocean data for Navy operations. Planning Systems also is a partner in the venture.

Navy partners with Pass Christian firm under Small Business Innovation Research Program

A joint effort by U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor, the Mississippi Enterprise for Technology and the U.S. Navy has secured a Navy contract for a fledgling Pass Christian business, Ocean Technologies Inc., under the U.S. Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) program.

Ocean Technologies, which provides fishing forecasts using oceanographic data in a geographic information system, will develop a geographic information system software package that can integrate a variety of oceanographic data to help in the Navy's mine warfare effort.

"I was glad that I could help Ocean Technologies by referring the company to the Mississippi Enterprise for Technology (MET) at Stennis Space Center. Cecil Mills, the MET's community liaison representative, then contacted Ocean Technologies and the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command's Technology Transfer Officer," Taylor said. "I am especially appreciative of Mr. Mills' timeliness in carrying out my referral."

The company uses much of the same data to generate fishing forecasts that the Navy uses to find mines. The development of a software package that can read all of the data — which is generated in a variety of formats — integrate it, and orient it geographically will be valuable to both organizations.

The impetus for the contract came when Taylor asked Mills to visit Ocean Technologies and assess their technical capabilities. In addition to reporting their technical capabilities, Mills told Taylor that the company was interested in competing for a Small Business Innovation Research award to develop a new product with the Navy.

"Thanks to Gene Taylor's perceptiveness in promoting small business, we have been presented with opportunities to do business with the Navy, which allows us to create more high-tech jobs," said Charles Riley, president of Ocean Technologies.

The matter was referred to the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command COMNAVMETOCCOM, which handles the Navy's operational oceanography, which includes mine warfare. The COMNAVMETOCCOM and Ocean Technologies partnered together under the command's Cooperative Research And Development Agreement or CRADA with the state of Mississippi.

"Our CRADA with the state of Mississippi allows (the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command) to partner with Mississippi companies to improve the state's economy. Working with private businesses, such as Ocean Technologies, as a liaison for meteorological and oceanographic information processing is an example of the Navy's technology transfer process," said Rear Adm. Ken Barbor, commander of the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command.

Planning Systems Inc. (PSI), a company who develops mine warfare databases for the Navy is also participating in the Navy SBIR contract with Ocean Technologies and COMNAVMETOCCOM. The first phase of the program will be to develop a prototype software package.

The second phase will be to acquire a high frequency radar system to provide consistent data on surface currents. Once the software package is completed for Navy mine warfare, the system will be marketed to the oil industry for identifying areas of high currents and other problems.

Outstanding

Captain Larry Warrenfeltz, Commanding Officer at the Naval Oceanographic Office at Stennis Space Center, and Patty Simm, a Naval Oceanographic employee and MCAFA award winner, agree that OCEANS ALIVE has a bright future at NAVOCEANO.

Oceanographer named Outstanding Employee of Year

The Mississippi Coast Association of Federal Administrators (MCAFA) has selected Patricia Simm of Diamondhead as the Outstanding Federal Civilian of the Year for 1998.

Simm is a sea-going oceanographer for the Naval Oceanographic Office's Ocean Projects Department at John C. Stennis Space Center. The department oversees the deployment of technical cutting-edge oceanographic sensors to support the organization's global mission.

MCAFA was established under a Presidential Executive Order to promote coordination between federal agencies. A major event each year is the annual Awards Banquet where the Federal Employee of the Year and nominees are recognized for their contributions on the job as well as in their communities.

"Apparently, the selection committee was surprised to find that women actually do go to sea on our ships and collect oceanographic data," Simm said. "I hope this award increases awareness of the Naval Oceanographic Office in our community."

Her development and execution of the OCEANS ALIVE Program, Oceanographic Career Enhancement and Naval Science: Adventurous Learning in Variable Environments, made it possible for 23 students and eight teachers from Mississippi and Louisiana to participate in a hands-on approach to science education in the fields of oceanography and meteorology.

Other outreach activities in which Simm is involved include:

- Project Marco Polo — Teachers and students gain first-hand knowledge of other countries' culture and geography as well as gain hands-on experience in oceanographic survey operations.
- Instructor for the Sea Scholar Program during the summer

Pulsifer honored

Joy Elizabeth Pulsifer of Kiln was among 202 King College students receiving academic honors for the 1998 fall semester.

Some 60 students achieved perfect 4.0 semester grade-point averages, placing them on the King College Honor Roll.

The remaining 142 students earned in the range of 3.3 to 3.9 averages and were placed on the King College Dean's List.

St. Paul's announces '99 team

The St. Paul's Carnival Association announces the 1999 carnival team contestants. Each team will sponsor fund raising activities from now until Jan. 24. The contestants for the team that raises the most money for the benefit of St. Paul's Catholic School will reign as King Christian LXIX (69th) and Queen Christiana at the St. Paul's Carnival Association Royal Ball and Parade.

The contestants for team I are John Wesley "Wes" Jones Jr. and Robin Kern Cuevas. Jones is the son of the late John Wesley Jones and Flora Jones Roper. He is a lifelong resident of Pass Christian.

He has a daughter, Margaret Lee Jones. Jones is a graduate of Mississippi State University. He has experience as an owner, operator and builder of commercial green houses. He also taught landscaping at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College.

He is presently self-employed as a landscape designer and contractor. Jones is a commissioner for the Pass Christian Soil and Water Conservation Commission. He is the consulting arborist for the Pass Christian Tree Board and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega and Trinity Episcopal Church.

The Jones family has supported the St. Paul's Carnival Association and sponsored a flat in the parade for many years.

Cuevas is a lifelong resident of Pass Christian. She and her husband, "Wendy" Cuevas, are the parents of two sons, John and Jared Cuevas.

Cuevas attended St. Paul's Catholic School as a child and graduated from Pass Christian High School. She is employed at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. She is the daughter of Karl Kern and Audrey Kern. Cuevas and her family have been involved with the St. Paul's Carnival Association for many years.

Team II is represented by Edward "Inky" Fournier and Helen Ladner Bentz.

Fournier has been a resident of Pass Christian all his life. He is the son of the late Edward and Margaret Fournier. He is married to Deborah Rachuba Fournier, and they are the parents of three sons, Jason, Cameron and Brian.

Their youngest son is currently a student at St. Paul's. Fournier is a graduate of Pass Christian High School and is employed with Gulf Shores Baptist Assembly in Pass Christian.

Fournier and his family are members of St. Paul's Catholic Church, and he is a long-time active member of St. Paul's Carnival Association.

Bentz has lived on the Mississippi Gulf Coast all her life. She is married to Leonard Bentz, and they reside in Biloxi. They are the parents of four children, Karen Ladner Lizana, Sharon Bentz Levi, Leonard Bentz II, and Joseph Cain Ladner. They also have four grandchildren.

Bentz is a graduate of Harrison Central High School, American Institute of Banking, and Financial Counseling School at Florida State University. She is employed at Biloxi VA Federal Credit Union.

The Bentzes are members of Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church in Biloxi. Mr. and Mrs. Bentz have been members of the St. Paul's Carnival Association for several years.

The contestants for Teams I and II were officially "charged" with their duties by the St. Paul's Carnival Association at a special meeting of the Carnival Association Board.

All four contestants were officially introduced to officers and representatives of various organizations from St. Paul's Catholic Church and School at a cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rafferty of Pass Christian.

Both teams have already started their fund raising activities.

Team I (Jones/Cuevas) currently have scheduled the following activities:

Sunday, Jan. 17, Carnival Brunch and Gourmet Food Auction, and Saturday, Jan. 23, Monte Carlo Night at St. Paul's Gym. For details on Team I events, call 452-9128 or 255-9316.

Team II (Fournier/Bentz) have scheduled the following: Friday, Jan. 22, $10,000 Drawdown with music by Country Sounds at the West Harrison County Civic Center on Espy Avenue in Pass Christian.

For details on Team II events, call 452-7152 or 388-4116. These fund-raising activities will continue until Jan. 25 when the Countdown will take place and the winning team announced.

Fog causes wrecks

Dense fog Thursday morning was responsible for three wrecks in the westbound lanes of the Bay St. Louis bridge, according to Bay Police Chief Frank McNeil.

McNeil said the accidents occurred within five minutes of each other between 7:55 a.m. and 8 a.m., and sent four people to Hancock Medical Center, where they were treated and released.

The accidents involved one four-car pileup and two rear-end collisions, the chief said. Four wreckers responded, but bridge traffic was not held up, because all the vehicles were diverted to one lane, he said.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, JANUARY 17, 1999-7A

Defense key in Rocks win over Tigers

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium was the site of a key Division 7 Class 4A basketball battle on Friday, January 15. The game pitted long-time crosstown rivals Bay High and St. Stanislaus in the heated contest.

The Rocks and Tigers hooked up in a low scoring defensive war. The Rocks held the Tigers scoreless for the last 3:54 of the game to take the win 48-40 and improve to 21-3 overall and 6-2 in the division. The loss dropped the Tigers to 11-9 overall and 4-5 in the division.

Before the game, in the parking lot, a bet was paid off. The bet was from the recent football season. The two schools agreed that the principal and head football coach of the losing school would wash the opposing team's bus.

The Tigers lost the game 13-10 in overtime and paid the bet back on Friday. Bay High principal Sandra Reed and head football coach David Baughman put rags and sponges to one of the Rock-a-chaw buses and scrubbed until it shined.

Back in the gym, the Rocks jumped out to a 11-7 lead in the first period with Brantley Ladner's 12-foot jumper at the 1:35 mark.

However, Louis Dunklin tied the score at 11-11 for the Tigers with :40 to go in the first period.

The Rocks outscored the Tigers 16-6 in the second period to push the halftime score to 24-17. The run was sparked by an intentional foul by Bay High on Zeke Davis as he drove to the basket. Brantley Ladner sank both charity shots to give the Rocks a 15-13 lead and the ball.

Grady Willis and Stephen Peterman each added a free throw before Jason Santiago drained a three-pointer with 2:07 left in the half to make the score 20-13.

Junior Davis and Stevie Lizana each scored four points for the Rocks and the Tigers, respectively, to end the half.

SSC pushed the score to 31-21 after Paul Farve's putback at the 4:58 mark. However, the Tigers held the Rocks to just two points for the remainder of the period as they brought the score to 33-29 at the end of three.

The Tigers put the pressure on the Rocks in the fourth period as they tied the game on three occasions and took the lead at one point.

With 4:01 left to play, Dunklin bagged a three-pointer to put the Tigers ahead for the first time since the 6:01 mark of the first period.

However, Peterman went to the line for the Rocks and gave SSC the lead for good with two charity shots. The Rocks held the Tigers scoreless for the remainder of the game as SSC pushed the score to 48-40.

Bay High head coach Monty Noblitt stated, "Our kids fought hard. It was a war. We are closer than we were; however, we still need to execute better."

"I am proud of all the guys tonight. They all played well. We made some mistakes down the stretch that we cannot make if we are going to beat a good team like St. Stanislaus."

Stevie Lizana led Bay High and all scorers with 12 points. Louis Dunklin and Jason Robinson each added eight points for the Tigers in the loss.

The Rocks were led by Stephen Peterman with nine points. Junior Davis and Brantley Ladner each added eight points for the Rocks.

SSC head coach Jay Ladner commented, "This was a typical Bay High/SSC matchup. It was a war. The Tigers came into the game well-prepared. We did not shoot the ball particularly well tonight."

"There were two reasons why we won this game, defense and hustle. Our defense stepped up the tempo when we tied the game at 40-40 with about four minutes to go in the game. We were able to hold them scoreless for the remainder."

"Stephen Peterman came in and hit some big shots for us tonight. We need to get ourselves ready for a 19-5 Columbia Wildcat team on Tuesday night."

Making good on a bet

Soccer roundup

Hancock Hawks grab first season win

OLA, 1
Oak Grove, 3

In a defensive battle, Our Lady Academy lost to the unbeaten Oak Grove Warriors, 3-1. Ashley Chrisman scored the only goal for the Crescents on a penalty kick. OLA's record stands at 12-2.

Hancock boys, 3
Vanceleave, 1

Bringing home their first victory of the season, the Hawks posted goals from Billy Baumgartner, Les Sackett and Chris Sackett.

Hancock girls, 3
Vanceleave, 2

Hancock lady Hawks stepped behind their second win of the season in their 3-2 win over Vanceleave. Sara Czenstochowski offered up two assists before scoring. Kasey Ladner scored the second goal of the night and teamed up with Leila Gargou to assist in the winning point with less than three minutes left in the game.

Bay High, 0
Gulfport, 2

Gulfport's Zach Morrison kept the Bay High Tiger offense off the board with a shut out.

Harrison Central, 0

It came down to a shoot out Friday night against OLA and Harrison Central. Leslie Escher score the winning point for Our Lady Academy in overtime.

St. Stanislaus, 1
Harrison Central, 2

The Rock-A-Chaws couldn't launch an offense against the Harrison Central Red Rebels Friday night. Nick Middleton offered the only SSC point in the game leaving the Rocks with a 14-4-1 season and 10-2 in district play.

Selecting solid stocks

In the 1960s, a Brooklyn couple, Donald and Mildred Othmer, invested $50,000 in the stock market on the advice of a trusted friend. When the Othmers died during the 1990s, they left an estate worth $800 million, thanks to the advice of their friend, Warren Buffett.

Of course, not all of us are fortunate enough to have a Wall Street legend such as Buffett within our circle of friends and acquaintances. Most investors, however, do have the same opportunity to choose good stocks in a market that has historically rewarded investors with excellent returns. Buffett's approach is available to you: Buy value at reasonable prices, then wait for it to mature.

But how do you select top stocks? Here are several suggestions:

First, look for successful companies that are long-standing industry leaders. These businesses typically have thrived during many market cycles and have proven to be pre-eminent performers.

Second, check the consistency of the company's present and past earnings. A 10-year history of rising earnings is usually a good indication of stability.

Third, buy only those companies with wise management capable of industry leadership. Strong management is the basis of corporate success. Read annual reports from several years. Look for evidence of solid business planning. Were goals met from year to year? How successful is the company in developing and introducing new products and sustaining old ones?

Fourth, a company must be financially sound. Once again, review the annual report. Check for a strong balance sheet and reasonable long-term debt. If you are unsure of what to look for, an investment professional can help you apply several simple tests to determine a company's financial stability.

Finally, choose companies from diverse industries to minimize the impact of a downturn in any single sector. This is most easily achieved by investing in a broad-based mutual fund with a history of excellent management and growth.

Does all of this research require some work? You bet. But it's well worth the investment in time.

You don't need to hope for your own personal Warren Buffett. All that's required is a little initiative and some professional advice to help you achieve your financial goals.

Bank announces Mississippi promotions

With $2.7 billion in assets, 80 full-service offices and 110 automated teller machines throughout South Mississippi and Louisiana, Hancock Bank stands as one of the strongest, safest financial institutions in the United States, according to Veribank, Inc.

Subsidiaries of Hancock Holding Company, the parent company of Hancock Bank Mis-issippi and Hancock Bank of Louisiana, include Hancock Investment Services, Inc., Hancock Insurance Agency, Hancock Mortgage Corporation and Harrison Finance Company.

Hancock Bank celebrates its centennial anniversary Oct. 9, 1999.

NDBC director retires

Dr. Jerry C. McCall, director of the National Data Buoy Center (NDBC) at Stennis Space Center, retired effective Jan. 1 after 30 years of government service.

Dr. McCall served as the NDBC director since May 7, 1977. He was awarded the United States Coast Guard Meritorious Public Service Award for his 21 years of service which greatly assisted in furthering the aims and functions of the Coast Guard.

Although NDBC is part of the Department of Commerce's (DOC) National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, throughout McCall's tenure, it has been jointly staffed by DOC civilians, U.S. Coast Guard officers and enlisted members, and a private contractor.

Under McCall's leadership, NDBC succeeded in becoming the United States' focal point for data buoy and associated automated meteorological monitoring system technology. NDBC maintains the philosophy of delivering high-quality environmental data in real time from data-sparse areas to the National Weather Service and other users for weather predictions, warnings, research, climatological studies, engineering development, and other purposes requiring accurate measurements and reliable performance.

Comprehensive maintenance, calibration, reliability, and data quality control programs are used to ensure that data standards are maintained. The National Weather Service is the largest user of these data.

McCall has had a long and distinguished career both inside and outside the U.S. Government. In the early 1950's, McCall served in various capacities with the University of Mississippi as an instructor and with IBM in computer applications.

He joined the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Marshall Space Flight Center in the late 1950's where he served as assistant to Dr. Werner von Braun and later as deputy director of its research and development activities in Huntsville, Ala.

After seven years with NASA, McCall became manager of IBM's space transportation system, and from 1973 to 1976 was executive vice chancellor at the University of Mississippi.

He and his wife, the former Margaret Ruth Denton of Tupelo, will continue to reside in Gulfport.

Start Small. Finish Big With A Hancock Bank IRA.

You've seen how the squirrels do it—one acorn at a time. Before you know it, they're set. It's not too late to follow their example. And an IRA from Hancock Bank is the perfect way to start. If you're just getting out of college, if you're in your prime, or if retirement is just a week away, we can find the right IRA options for you.

Should your IRA go to high yield stocks? A conservative CD? A combination of the two? Do you need a traditional IRA? A tax-saving Roth?

Or a rollover for your 401(k) money? We're your full-service financial center, and these are the questions we can help you answer.

So go by any Hancock Bank today. We'll help you start small and finish big.

Leading cast members

Members of the cast rehearse a scene from Once on this Island, the 1991 Tony Award-winning musical by Stephen Flaherty, to be presented by the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre. The play will run at 8 p.m. nightly, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Jan. 21, 22, and 23. Pictured from left are Dennis Clark, Melanie Raboteau, Cahri Lee and Alfraza Acker.

Sigma Nu fraternity brothers at the University of Mississippi implied that Lott is seeking $2 million in federal funds to widen and pave Texas Flat Road, which could become a route through which the garbage comes into the dumpsite.

Lott's aide, Lee Youngblood, said the Texas Flat Road project has been in the works for years, and "is not related" to York's plans.

Arrests

Laura Stepro is charge of the investigation.

Pamela Elaine Willingham, 40, of Bay St. Louis was arrested Jan. 11, and charged with one count of prescription forgery by trying to obtain Tylox. Her bond is set at $5,000. Agent Laura Stepro is charge of the investigation.

Krystal Lee Angel Billeaud, 23, of Bay St. Louis was arrested Jan. 13, on one count of prescription forgery. Billeaud was allegedly trying to obtain the pain killer Memergen. She is under $5,000 bond. Agent Michael Hearty is in charge of the investigation.

Corr said Don Keith Lee, Jr., 20, of Pearlinton was charged Jan. 14, with one count of sale of a controlled substance. Lee is being held without bail. He was under bond for an earlier arrest on two counts of possession and possession with intent to sale.

Officers arrested Jeff Long, 46, of Finely, Tenn., for possession of a controlled substance Jan. 6. Agent Jeff Hair is handling the investigation.

Paintball

The warning added, "However, there have been assertions of problems regarding older Extreme Vision 280 goggles. Again, there have been no injuries reported to us. To insure customer satisfaction and confidence, and after conferring with Leader (the manufacturer), Brass Eagle has decided to voluntarily recall the lenses on all Xtreme Vision 280 goggles where the lens itself is not date-stamped, and replace with new lenses."

If you're concerned about the safety of your goggles, the toll-free number to call is: 1-800-861-6095.

Locally, Curt Colson of Wave-land has been trying to organize an American Paintball League in Hancock County, and games have actually been played on weekends in a field off Chanman Road.

A sign visible from the road advertises "Counterattack Paintball. American Paintball League. Insured," and lists two phone numbers to call.

Colson said in the two years he's refereed and played in paintball competition, "There has not been one injury." He said players are covered by liability insurance, which he carries, through the American Paintball League.

He said players, as young as 10 can compete, but minor children must have signed permission from their parents or a guardian. Most who participate in the sport are in their teens and mid-20s, Colson said.

"But, before they even take the field, we go over the safety rules, and if they come without goggles they can't play or if they take them off during competition, they are ordered off the field," said Colson.

"People can get hurt if they don't play safely," Colson said. "This sport should be practiced on a regulated field, and not in the woods or your back yard."

Out of fairness, the Echo turned to the Internet to get some information on Leader Sports, which developed the goggles now marketed exclusively by Brass Eagle.

Leader has been in the protective eyewear business for 26 years, and molds, manufactures and sells a variety of eyewear for sports, industry and military useage. It markets products in 30 countries around the world, but mostly in the United States and Canada.

Leader designed and manufactured lenses for the gas masks used by soldiers in NATO and the Canadian Armed Forces "to resist the impact of a .22 caliber bullet at over 100 miles per hour."

Leader's hockey mask can withstand the impact of a hockey puck at 62 m.p.h. without breaking and without touching the player's face or nose, and its racketball eyeguards can withstand impacts of 120 m.p.h., according to information furnished by Leader.

He said the owners found Port Bienville to be convenient to possible buyers who want to fly into Stennis International Airport, then drive to the port to inspect the barge.

In other business Monday, commissioners passed a resolution accepting the low bid of Cypress Construction Co. of Bay St. to build the a fire station at Port Bienville that will be located on a strip of land between the two entrances to the Wellman Plastics Plant.

Cypress is a subsidiary of GM&R Construction, whose president is Henry Martinez, and submitted a low bid of $356,257 to build the fire station. The funds are part of $500,000 in county funds set aside for the project, with the remainder earmarked to buy a fire truck.

On a unanimous, individual vote, commissioners re-elected the entire slate of officers for another year. Dave McDonald will remain as president; Louis Brown, vice-president; Harry Farve, secretary; and Louis Hall, treasurer.

Waveland library schedules pajama story time hours

Local musician Gigi Hines will be guest at the January Pajama Party Bedtime Story Hour Tuesday, Jan. 19 at 7 p.m. at the Waveland Library Literacy Center.

The program, sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, is designed for children four to eight and their parents.

While children attend the story hour, guest speakers present programs designed to encourage parents and caregivers to share the joy of reading with their children.

More information is available by contacting Donna Hutchings at the Waveland Library at 467-9240.

Miss McCarty's new children's book applauded

A new children's book based on the inspirational story of Mississippi washerwoman Oseola McCarty is drawing rave reviews from several journals that help librarians and others with book selection.

The Riches of Oseola McCarty, written by Evelyn Coleman and published by Albert Whitman and Company of Morton Grove, Ill., is described by Horn Book Magazine as a work that "evokes a world few contemporary children will know and introduces a heroine they will greatly admire."

Horn Book said Coleman's focus in the book is "on the pride the women took in their work. And rather than preach, she details that work with a respect that confirms its dignity."

"While Oseola worked, she saved and saved — and thus the scholarship endowment given upon the occasion of Oseola's retirement at the age of 87," Horn said of McCarty's donation of $150,000 of her life's savings to the University of Southern Mississippi.

Kirkus Reviews likewise praised the book, illustrated with black-and-white woodcut-like prints, as "full of wisdom and quiet courage; readers will be drawn to the simplicity of the habits that led to Oseola's riches. A small, fine book."

Earlier, Smithsonian named The Riches of Oseola McCarty as a notable book for children in 1998, adding: "This affectionate biography salutes the dignity of hard work and keeps us mindful of the privilege that underlies education."

Gaits to Success resumes schedule

Therapeutic horseback riding will resume at Gaits to Success Therapeutic Horsemanship Center Jan. 21, 7552 Kiln-Picayune Road, Kiln.

One hour sessions will be held between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and Saturdays between 9 a.m. and noon.

The classes target persons with disabilities ages 6 and up, including adults. Classes will be grouped by age and disability as much as possible.

"Therapeutic riding is recognized by the American Occupational Therapy Association and the American Physical Therapy Association," said Barbara Kaiser, Gaits to Success founder. "Benefits of therapeutic horseback riding include increased balance, muscle control and strength. Riders also benefit from increased concentration, patience and discipline.

The unique relationship formed between horse and rider can help in improving personal relationships. The benefits of therapeutic riding are available to individuals with just about any disability."

Basic horsemanship skills taught at Gaits to Success include English Equitation, grooming and stable management. The session time is adapted to the individual needs of the student. Students are encouraged to compete with other therapeutic riding centers in the region twice during the year.

The riding fee is $200 for eight one-hour sessions. Dates of classes will be individually arranged upon acceptance to the riding program. Those interested in more information on therapy sessions or working with Gaits are asked to call 255-5368.

Area students are semifinalists for scholarship

Angel Michelle Koonce, a student at Harrison Central High School, Jessica Leigh, Hancock High School, and Amy Marie Cuevas, also a student at Hancock High, have been selected from over 137,000 applicants nationwide as semifinalists in the 1998-99 Coca-Cola Scholars Program.

They rank among some 2,000 seniors who are in the running for $1.4 million in college scholarships being awarded by the Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation.

Students are selected to advance to this next phase based on the level of excellence, leadership and achievement demonstrated in school and community activities.

As semifinalists, students must submit additional information which will be reviewed in February by a committee comprised of 21 educators from high schools and universities throughout the United States.

If advanced, Koonce, Blackmon and Cuevas will be among a total of 151 finalists who will travel to Atlanta April 22-25 to attend the Coca-Cola Scholars Weekend.

During their visit they will attend a final interview process which will determine whether they are designated as either a national or regional scholar.

The 51 national scholars will each receive a four-year $20,000 renewable scholarship award, while the 100 regional scholars will receive a four-year $4,000 renewable scholarship.

Diamondhead Women's Club

The Eleventh Frame Lounge at Park Ten Lanes, Diamondhead, was the locale for the January meeting of the Women's Club.

President Lee Fredian thanked the many members for coming and read Gert Wadington's treasury report.

Members were distressed to hear that someone stole the Santa Claus from the Women's Club Christmas display at the Diamondhead entrance, a loss to the club of $180.

June Murphy read the December minutes. Pat Morgan said volunteers in good physical conditions are needed to accompany the second annual golf cart float in the Krewe of Diamondhead parade.

The parade will roll Feb. 13. The krewe requires that golf cart floats be accompanied by walkers for the entire parade route. Plans for the float will be finalized at the February meeting.

On March 6, the Women's Club will present another Spring Fling Art Show. Goal is to showcase the works of local artists as well as to raise funds for charity.

Becky Jordan, Arts Show chairman, needs a volunteer to take charge of the art display, and someone else is needed to coordinate the refreshments.

The 'Split the Pot' with charity prize was won by member Marion Boudreaux.

Al Grace, who is employed by Gravel Affiliates, was guest speaker. He described the cruise lines and their many ships and the types of land tours available.

The ladies enjoyed the luncheon special, while some ordered from the menu. The next meeting will be Wednesday, Feb. 3 at the same meeting place. 'The Eleventh Frame,' when a member of the Women's Club will be chosen Mardi Gras Queen for the Day.

Bode named Pass Citizen of Year

The annual Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce/Rotary Club dinner was Dec. 8 at the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

L.B. Stogner, president, welcomed and introduced officers and board members for the 1999 year.

Ellie Brown, director, presented Stogner with a plaque thanking him for his dedication and service as president of the Pass Christian Chamber.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Citizen of the Year Award by Garry Ruff, president of the Pass Christian Rotary. The recipient of the award is Paul Bode of Pass Christian.

Bode is active in a wide variety of civic groups. He serves with the Pass Christian Rotary, the Tricentennial Commission, the Pass Christian Historical Society, the Pass Christian and Long Beach Friends of the Library, and the Gulf Coast Community Foundation.

Bode is the unofficial chaplain of City Hall and a teacher with a master's degree in mathematical physics from Vanderbilt University and secondary school administration from Harvard University.

He worked on his doctorate in physics at the University of Virginia. He began his teaching career after leaving the Navy, which eventually led him to Pass Christian.

Bode has been headmaster for many private schools around the country and has always been active in church and community.

"Public service is not his hobby, but more like his passion. He is heavily invested in his community. It is part of his identity. He isn't a good citizen, a good American, or good man unless he is involved," says Father Christopher Colby, Trinity Episcopal Church.

Advertorial

At Don's House of Seafood in Kiln, Mississippi, they have a saying, "There is a difference in catfish too!" Once you've tried their delicious fried catfish you'll know exactly what they mean.

Owners of Don's House of Seafood, Rick and Suzy Fair invite you to come on in any day of the week for some of the best food on the coast. Don's House of Seafood is open for lunch and dinner every day, Monday through Saturday from 11 AM until 9:30 PM and on Sunday from 11 AM to 7 PM. The menu at Don's is extensive and includes a wonderful array of appetizers. (Be sure to try the gumbo, yum!) Delicious side orders are available including homemade macaroni and cheese, just like mom used to make. Don's offers a good salad selection and a children's menu named appropriately, Derick's Domain. For the rest of us grown ups there are so many menu selections it is hard to choose. That is why you will be back time and time again to try and decide which is your favorite item. Whatever your taste buds are in the mood for, Don's can accommodate you. From their delicious seafood selections including a seafood platter for two that will knock your socks off, to steak and chicken, and of course po-boys, Don's is sure to satisfy even the most hard to please appetite. Be sure to leave room for dessert. How does a slice of cheese cake, lemon ice box pie or French silk pie sound? What are you waiting for? Get in the car and drive to 16611 Highway 603 in Kiln, Mississippi. Planning a party, Don's has a private party room perfect for any occasion, just call 255-6041 for more information. Be sure to tell 'em Derick sent ya!

Area scholars honored at USM

Twenty-two students from the Gulf Coast area were honored as scholarship recipients at the University of Southern Mississippi during a series of receptions held during October and November.

USM honors its scholarship recipients each fall by bringing them together with scholarship donors, administration, faculty and staff in their college for a special afternoon.

The receptions give the scholars the chance to meet and thank their donors as well as talk informally with others.

Area students honored were: — Mark L. Buchanan of Waveland, 48, a nursing major, who received the Louise M. Hawkins Scholarship, presented to capable and deserving students pursuing degrees in

Illegal nets seized in Hancock County

Bay St. Louis is a bit more litter-free today, thanks to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

On Monday, Marine Enforcement Officers Olin Gunter, Karen Steube, Rusty Pittman and Richard Cooley removed four illegal gill nets from Bay St. Louis. A spokesman said the nets were unmarked, untagged, unattended and set out in a closed sanctuary area.

Officers found undersized illegal redfish as small as 13 inches in the nets. One net contained a 42-inch redfish.

Two nets were seized near the mouth of the Jourdan River and one near the mouth of the Wolf River.

On the same evening, marine officers stopped a boat in Bay St. Louis and issued two citations for various infractions. Another craft eluded officers and fled the area.

The "WORD" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow, Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Tattoos are popular. People want to have marks on their bodies identifying them with mom or dad, some other person, organization, or cause. There are also earrings, nose rings, ornaments piercing other body parts. The Bible forbids tattoos.

"You shall not make any cuts in your body for the dead nor make any tattoo marks on yourselves. I am the Lord" (Leviticus 19:28).

The Bible also speaks of the mark of the beast (Revelation 16:2). The beast is the image of the dragon or the devil (Revelation 13:1). Those bearing the mark of the beast have the unholy spirit.

Their lives are characterized by the deeds of the flesh (Galatians 4:19-21). Tattoos are a physical mark. The mark of the beast is spiritual. It relates to all we do and all we think (Revelation 20:4). Some tattoos may be attractive. We may enjoy living like the devil. God marks us in another way. The apostle Paul exclaims it is God "who also sealed us and gave us the Spirit in our hearts as a pledge" (2 Corinthians 1:22). A seal authenticates.

The mark of God

God places the Holy Spirit on His people as a seal of authentication. Paul speaks of "the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you were sealed" (Ephesians 4:30). The fruit of the Spirit makes the seal or mark of God quite visible (Galatians 5:22-23).

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

We still speak of the roaring 20s, the depressed 30s, the war-torn 40s, the booming 50s, the violent 60s, the revolutionary 70s, the dread 80s of AIDS notoriety, and now the technologically exploding 90s.

Having named all those decades so tidily, would you believe that one of the preoccupations of the looming millennium is what moniker we shall hang on the first decade? Will it be something like the space-age 00s (as in double O)?

Admittedly, this is by far one of the more pleasant puzzles we have to deal with in this calendar year. If most of our hurdles were like this, the millennium would be a gas.

But we have already heard the first volley of shots from the doomsday gallery. Flabbergasted Israelis arrested eight American members of a Denver-based apocalyptic cult which blossomed right out of the international Nutcracker Suite.

The Concerned Christians cult emptied their houses last fall and stole away from Colorado, surfacing in Israel. They were to kill themselves or goad the Israelis into killing them in order to hasten the second coming of Christ.

Their attitude is exactly the opposite of these resuming they will be around for the millennium. Neither attitude is spiritually healthy, although the cult's is infinitely worse. Oddly, their suicide wish likewise presumes on God's grace.

Can you imagine anyone or any group using suicide to urge Jesus to a hasty second coming, when Jesus, the Lord of Life, came that we might have life and have it to the full (John 10:10)? Suicide, homicide and feticide are alien to Jesus.

More combat-minded folks are loading up to do battle against the Millennium Bug (Y2K). Since computers are blind, undiscerning readers, and since the years are numbered with their last two digits only, computers could read 00 as 1900.

Millennium fever

That would put the biggest computer-dependent companies into such a time warp that everything instituted after 1900 would no longer function. Power supplies, water, checks from social security and sundry might all be knocked out.

Of course, we little people with our popgun-sized personal computers would have virtually nothing to fear, unless we have made our small businesses or other enterprises dependent upon them. The hex of the 00s might then pay us a visit.

Y2K crisis teams are feverishly at work night and day to neutralize the 00 threat before that last tick of 1999. They are spending millions in order to save multi-millions.

Just by the way, anywhere there are big bucks to be made, there will invariably be a heroine/hero, fueled by greed, to step up and seize those ducats by finding a workable solution to Y2K. This sub-plot will be extremely intriguing to follow.

Then there are the irrepressible, driven spirits who will greet the millennium in their unique style. Take, as an example, the paraplegics who use special, customized gear to do, of all things, mountain climbing. Yep. Life to the full.

Since Jesus was actually born between 4 and 7 B.C., thanks to a bad calculation by Dennis the Little, the whole millennium year is a terribly awkward as the speculation about it.

The advent of the millennium can take its good old time. There's no hurry at all. I'm enjoying the 20th century to the full, one day, one hour, one minute at a time.

ST. ANN-ST. JOHN NEWS

Thoughts for meditation:
Never let yesterday use up today.

Dear Lord, help me keep focused on today and not be pulled backward. I confess to You the sins of yesterday and ask Your forgiveness and courage to move forward today. Amen.

If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just and will forgive our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness.

I John 1:9

He lives long that lives well; and time misspent is not lived, but lost.

—Thomas Fuller
I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full.

John 10:10

Blessed is the one who is too busy to worry in the daytime and too sleepy to worry at night.

Philippians 4:6

How rich a God our God is! He gives enough.

—Martin Luther
He will keep in perfect peace all those who trust in Him, whose thought turn often to the Lord.

Accepting the Unchangeable

It is important for us to accept and be aware of the many things in our lives that we cannot change. Accepting something does not necessarily mean we have to approve of it; however, acceptance may be good for our own peace of mind. If it is going to rain, there is nothing we can do about it; however, it is up to us to decide whether rain is a pleasant or an unpleasant thing.

Although we do not have control over whether we are born wealthy or beautiful, that does not preclude us from trying to gain wealth, or to improve our appearance.

The difficulty is in understanding exactly what we can control. The "Serenity Prayer" alludes to this difficulty: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference." As we grow into adulthood, we learn that many things which may, at first, seem impossible to us, are possible with God.

I have the strength to face all conditions by the power that Christ gives me.

Ice sculpture

Recent colder than usual temperatures have offered unusual sights. Residents along Leonard Street awoke to the rare sight of an ice sculpture created in the night via a running water hose.

Foundation announces competition

The Mississippi National Teen-Ager Scholarship Foundation invites teens to apply to participate in the 28th Mississippi National Teen-Ager Scholarship Program March 12-14 at Millsaps College in Jackson.

The program includes two divisions: juniors, ages 12-15 and seniors, ages 16-19. There will be a winner and four runners-up in each division.

Prizes include two $1,000 savings bonds, more than $100,000 in tuition scholarships to various universities, and over $20,000 in scholarships to John Robert Powers.

Two students will be flown to Opryland in Nashville where they will compete Aug. 1-8 for a $10,000 and $5,000 cash scholarships and numerous $1,500 savings bonds.

The National Teen-Ager Foundation has a non-profit, 501C3 status. Admissions counselors from the following universities were in attendance last year: University of Southern Mississippi, University of Mississippi, Delta State, Belhaven College, Mississippi College, Mississippi University for women, Hinds Community College, Jackson State University, Blue Mountain College, Mississippi State and William Carey.

TRAVEL & ENTERTAINMENT

12B-THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, JANUARY 17, 1999

1699-1999: Ship Island and the Mississippi Gulf Coast

"We came in, under shelter of an island (Ship Island) or the point of an island, where we are protected from winds from the south-southwest, south-southeast and northwest by the mainland, 3 and one-half leagues from us, and from the west and southwest by an island 2 leagues away."

February 10th 1699

(Iberville's Gulf Journals)
The arrival of ships from France three centuries ago marked the beginning of Ship Island as a landmark and crossroads in American history. From this small island of Mississippi's coast, explorers rowed shoreward to claim an empire extending north to the southern reaches of French Canada.

While the French were not the first Europeans to land, their presence brought the most impact to the Coast and the island itself.

Because of its deep water harbor, Ship Island offered sanctuary for storm-weary vessels and a forward base to support French Louisiana's struggling first capital.

Through succeeding centuries, invaders and defenders used Ship Island's strategic location to affect life from Texas to Florida and points north and south. During 1999, historians, re-enactors, storytellers and special mystery guests will help Gulf Islands National Seashore commemorate 1699-1999: Ship Island and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Also featured through the year will be special 1699 programs by park rangers for both children and adults.

All 1699-1999 programs through the next 12 months will be free, scheduled at 2 p.m. Sunday afternoons and can be enjoyed at the William M. Colmer Visitor Center in Ocean Springs.

What better place to start looking at 300 years of Coast history than in the beginning. That's what January is all about as park rangers and guests describe what was here before Iberville's feet dropped anchor at Ship Island.

Expect speakers to describe what life was like for Native Americans, show what treasures could be found in native plants and conduct a special Art-for-Kids program. We may even find out how the Singing River got its name.

All this and more kick of Jan. 3 at the Colmer Visitor Center with the "Stories of Grayhawk Perkins."

A member of the Houma tribe and a cultural naturalist for the state of Louisiana, Perkins talks about one of the first groups of Native Americans to meet the French explorers.

Many Coast residents should remember Perkins and his popular stories from the first Ocean Springs story-telling festival held several years ago. During his 1999 presentation, Grayhawk will discuss or describe anything from tools to medicine to stories told him by Houma elders.

He says he listens to his audience and goes where they want to go during their time together. During the hour program, Perkins also touches on the meetings between the French and the Houmas.

Pierre LeMoyné, Sieur d'Iberville sailed to what became Louisiana-Mississippi to beat the English, compete against the Spanish and, once and for all, find the Mississippi River. Perkins points out that local tribes helped make Iberville's mission a success.

He adds the Houmas had proof validating French claims for all lands drained by the Mississippi River. Find out on Jan. 3 what convinced Iberville he'd found his inland passage connecting Canada to French colonies in the Caribbean Sea.

The story of Native Americans and the French arrival continues with a special "Art-for-Kids" program at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 10. "Art For Kids/ Native American Pottery" gives kids, ages 5 to 11 a hands-on chance to make something basic, but so necessary for survival 300 years ago.

Adults are welcome to help out, but need to remember the kids are the ones getting their hands dirty. Join Park Rangers in the Colmer Visitor Center for Art-For-Kids/ Native American Pottery.

The program and all materials are free to kids and adults. Imagine arriving in an unknown world and not expecting a supply shop to follow for months—if not for years. Imagine not having a butcher shop, pharmacy or general store to get basic necessities.

Step outside on Sunday, Jan. 18 on the trails of Davis Bayou and you'll discover nature does provide life's necessities if you know where to look.

Join Ranger Mike Hobbs as we locate plants used over the centuries by natives and colonists on the Mississippi coast. "Marsh Walk/Walk into History" is an hour stroll that begins at 2 p.m. in the William M. Colmer Visitors Center. Both adults and youngsters are welcome.

One Coast legend could date back to the time of the French arrival. No one's really sure how the story of the Singing River came to be—except perhaps for storyteller Chris Vinsonhaler. This Ocean Springs resident says she knows the true story behind the "Pasca-goula River and its sad tale of lost tribes and lost love."

You too can find out on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 31, when Vinsonhaler takes her audience on a journey back in time to the creation of one of this area's most enduring local legends.

"The Singing River and Other Gulf Coast Tales" begins at 2 p.m. in the Davis Bayou Visitor Center and lasts about an hour.

January is just the beginning for programs during "1699-1999: Ship Island and the Mississippi Coast." Next months rangers and special guests speakers discuss the 300th anniversary of Iberville's arrival and the beginnings of French colonization on the Coast.

From 1699 onward, Ship Island and its harbor helped make the Gulf Coast a crossroads as soldiers, sailors, pirates, settlers, cassette girls, fishermen and many more faces and personalities stepped ashore to create history.

Through 1999, Gulf Islands National Seashore will offer a variety of presentations looking at this sequence of historic events and personalities ranging from colonization to modern times. Ship Island has been a part of the seashore since its creation in 1971.

Davis Bayou is the mainland headquarters for the Mississippi District of Gulf Islands National Seashore and is located off Hwy. 90 East in Ocean Springs.

Current hours for the William M. Colmer Visitor Center at 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. daily. For information about "1699-1999" programs and the park, call 228-875-9057.

Collectors show planned

Jan. 22-24, Quality Collectors Shows of Memphis will return to the Singing River Mall in Gautier to present its collectibles show.

Show times are regular mall hours, 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 1-6 p.m. Sunday. There is no admission charge, and ample free parking is available.

Several dozen dealers from many states in the South will offer a wide variety of collectibles, including coins, stamps, currency, numismatic supplies, stamp collecting supplies, comics, movie posters, NASCAR collectibles, baseball cards, non-sports cards, sports memorabilia, beanie babies, casino collectibles, and many other items. Collectors of all levels of expertise, as well as interested non-collectors, are invited to come and buy, sell, trade, or just browse among the thousands of items on display.

Richard Martin, show chairman for Quality Collectors Shows, commented, "We are happy to be back at Singing River Mall for our first show in 1999 to bring our many friends in the Gautier area another fine collectors show."

There will be many quality dealers available, offering a good variety of collectibles. Many of the dealers will offer free verbal appraisals of your collectibles."

Dauphin Island group seeks artists, craftsmen

Dauphin Island, Ala. is celebrating its 300th birthday in 1999 and is looking for artists and fine craftsmen to participate in the Tricentennial Arts and Crafts Fest Saturday, March 6 and Sunday, March 7.

Other events scheduled during March on the island are tours of the historic 'Little Red Schoolhouse,' which will be 100 in 1999, and a jazz concert at Fort Gaines.

Fort Gaines will also present a living history program March 12-14. Pirates will raid the fort on Saturday, and the Pelican Girls (who were brought to the French territory to marry single French settlers) will land during this weekend. Other activities include candle making, hawk throwing, open hearth cooking and cannon firing.

For an application for the Arts and Crafts Fest or more information about Tricentennial events, call (334) 861-5760 or write to Dauphin Island Tricen-tennial Commission, Town of Dauphin Island, Alabama 36528.
